5                   UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
6                   WESTERN DISTRICT OF WASHINGTON
7                   AT SEATTLE

8                   KURT BENSHOOF,                   CASE NO. 2:25-mc-7-JNW
9                   Petitioner.                         DISMISSAL ORDER

10
11                  This matter comes before the Court on its own accord. Benjamin Blanchard, 12 purporting to appear as “Assistance of Counsel” to Kurt Benshoof, filed an 13 “Emergency Habeas Corpus Petition.” Dkt. No. 2.

14                  On February 11, 2025, the Court issued an Order declaring Benshoof a 15 vexatious litigant. Dkt. No. 1. Because of Benshoof’s history as an abusive litigant, 16 the Court imposed pre-filing restrictions. Id. at 17. Benshoof is prohibited from 17 filing any pro se civil action in the Western District of Washington without leave
18 from the Court. Id. To obtain leave, Benshoof must submit a declaration signed
19 under the penalty of perjury that identifies all past or pending cases initiated
20 against the same defendants, concisely states the past disposition or present
21 posture of those cases, succinctly describes why the proposed new action involves 22 different factual allegations and demonstrate that the new filing is not frivolous or 23 in bad faith. Id. The declaration cannot exceed ten pages. Id.

1 Benshoof has not moved for leave to file a new action and has not provided a
2 declaration. See generally Dkt. No. 2. As the Court previously warned Benshoof, if
3 he filed a new action without following these restrictions, the Court would deny
4 leave to proceed, without issuing an order to show cause. Id. at 17.

5 Accordingly, the Court dismisses without prejudice the proposed emergency
6 habeas corpus petition at Dkt. No. 2.

7
8 Dated this 4th day of April, 2025.
